

Craft Workshops

*Workshops meet from 10:30 am to 12:30 pm
the third Saturday of the month in the Dexter Thayer Room*

COME JOIN US!

The World of the Small Book Publisher

February 21, 2015
10:30 a.m. – 12:30 p.m.
at

Thayer Memorial Library, Lancaster

A Seven Bridge Writers' Collaborative Living The Writer's Life

Do you understand the different working relationships between publishers and authors (acquisition, subvention, fee-for-service, subscription)? Do you know what really makes traditional publishing different from self-publishing? Do you know how to determine the quality of a publisher's services? Or how a publisher can help promote your book? Join Sarah Bauhan, head of Bauhan Publishing of Peterborough, New Hampshire, for a discussion of these topics and a look at the changing world of small book publishers.

Bauhan Publishing is an independent publisher in Peterborough, New Hampshire. They focus on New England regional books in the areas of history, art, nature studies, and poetry, as well as venturing into thoughtful books that explore sustainability of both the earth and the spirit.

For more information, contact Karen Silverthorn at 978-368-8928 ext. 4.